

Bulletin / Electronic Press release for Dennis McClintock

Dennis McClintock, Associate Director with Churches of Christ Disaster Relief Effort, Inc. based in Nashville, TN, will be speaking to us about CCDRE's purpose, along with how they stay ready to provide the basic needs and much more to those devastated by major disasters in the US, by working through a local church of Christ near the disaster. Come hear about a truly good work to help others, going on in the church today.

Dennis began working for CCDRE in Nashville in 2011, but was helping in disaster areas long before he began working for CCDRE. He helped unload and distribute the supplies in Hayesville, KS after the tornado hit in 1998, and volunteered for 13 years, working with congregations CCDRE was sending supplies to across Kansas, and Missouri. He retired from his position with Springfield MO Public Schools in 2007 to search for a position where he could work to help others in need full-time. Separate from his duties with Disaster Relief Effort, he is very passionate about helping train church groups to become a certified Community Emergency Response Team (C.E.R.T.), so they can help their community and others when a disaster strikes.

Dennis lives in south central Missouri and travels extensively across 6 of the northern Plains states, 3 states in the Mississippi Valley, and 2 in the Great Lakes Region, speaking to churches to make them more aware of CCDRE, and what they do. Along with speaking to churches, when a disaster has struck, he contacts churches in the states where he works to determine the extent of the damage, and he helps churches get prepared for delivery of supplies from CCDRE, helping them get setup, and instructing them on what they'll be doing, and how best to do it. To read more about CCDRE go to: disasterrelieffort.org or facebook.com/disasterrelieffort

